Inviting Modern Comfort.

At Park Inn & Suites by Radisson, every guest experiences our warm hospitality in a modern yet familiar setting. It is in our DNA, and the things we do every day, that allow us to consistently deliver this for our guests. As such, we need to be united in our understanding of what we mean by delivering 'Inviting Modern Comfort'.

To us, it means always making our guests feel comfortable and welcome in the place they call home, even if it is just for one night, ensuring they can make the most of their journey – from the moment we welcome them with a heartfelt smile to the moment they leave feeling they have received a warm and personal service.

It means sharing our tips on what to see and where to go so that guests can discover things that only locals may know about. It also means opening our doors to the local community and supporting community projects and initiatives, including local sports teams.

Importantly, Inviting Modern Comfort is also reflected in the design of our hotels. From our shared spaces that allow our guests to create real, memorable moments, to the BBQ pits in select locations where they can gather and truly feel at home.
